

So Lost In You

You, so lost in you
I listen forever to try to understand
In the silence of the night I hear your heartbeat
Echoes of longing in every whisper sweet
You, don't you realize the love we built inside
When the starlight fades, I'm still by your side

How can you tell anything is different?
How can you know things are any better today?
In the shadows when doubts fill the air
Just look in my eyes, you'll find ours there

You had it all figured out
No one says a thing anymore, it's true
You've always been the answer
The bright summer skies in your laughter
Find the reason why we try
Through every storm and every tender kiss
You're my wildest dream in this way
In abyss
Tell the whole world just to go away
Try so hard to get there, I'm seeing your way
In the moments that feel lost in this place
Know that my heart will always keep pace
When the skies turn dark and the night feels cold
I'll wrap you in warmth, my love will unfold
Through the strings of the heart, we'll dance to our song
In the melody of life you've always belonged

You, the light in my day, in the softest hours you lead the way
Through every whisper and the dreams that we find
You're the love song that plays, framing heart and mind
When the world seems heavy and skies feel grey

I'll be the shelter, come what may
How can you tell anything is different?
How can you know things are any better today
In the silence of the night I hear your heartbeat
You're my wildest dream, our love's bittersweet
So take my hand and let's taste the dawn
Through the whispers of time our love goes on
You just stay here with me, never part
Forever and always you'll hold my heart